Description
Light, easy to use and designed to be worn under your head and chest protection.

The Red Dragon Throat Protector is designed to protect the throat when sparring. It is worn beneath the mask and features a hard impact plastic insert to protect the throat and a layer of stiff impact foam to protect the clavicle (collar bone). It is constructed from stitched nylon and features an elasticated Velcro attachment at the back of the neck. One size fits all.

Note: This throat protection is not suitable for full speed steel sparring, it is suitable for controlled steel sparring and drill work.

Warning: Not suitable for use with sharp weapons of any type
